

POWER AND SOCIETY IN THE GDR, 1961–1979

The 'Normalisation of Rule'?

edited by
Mary Fulbrook

Berghahn Books
New York • Oxford

Contents

Abbreviations	vii
1. The Concept of 'Normalisation' and the GDR in Comparative Perspective	1
Mary Fulbrook
 PART I NORMALISATION AS STABILISATION AND ROUTINISATION? SYSTEMIC PARAMETERS AND THE ROLES OF FUNCTIONARIES
2. 'Aggression in Felt Slippers': Normalisation and the Ideological Struggle in the Context of Détente and Ostpolitik	33
Merrilyn Thomas
3. Economic Politics and Company Culture: The Problem of Routinisation	52
Jeannette Madarász
4. Rural Functionaries and the Transmission of Agricultural Policy: The Case of Bezirk Erfurt from the 1960s to the 1970s	76
George Last
5. The 'Societalisation' of the State: Sport for the Masses and Popular Music in the GDR	102
Dan Wilton
6. Communication and Compromise: The Prerequisites for Cultural Participation	130
Esther von Richthofen
7. Learning the Rules: Local Activists and the Heimat	151
Jan Palmowski

PART II	NORMALISATION AS INTERNALISATION? CONFORMITY, 'NORMALITY', AND 'PLAYING THE RULES'
8.	Practices of Survival—Ways of Appropriating 'the Rules': Reconsidering Approaches to the History of the GDR Alf Lüdtke	181
9.	The GDR—A Normal Country in the Centre of Europe Ina Merkel	194
10.	How Do the 1929ers and the 1949ers Differ? Dorothee Wierling	204
11.	Producing the 'Socialist Personality'? Socialisation, Education, and the Emergence of New Patterns of Behaviour Angela Brock	220
12.	1977: The GDR's Most Normal Year? Mark Allinson	253
13.	'Normalisation' in the GDR in Retrospect: East German Perspectives on Their Own Lives Mary Fulbrook	278
	List of Contributors	321
	Bibliography	325
	Index	335