

Tears in the Graeco-Roman World

Edited by
Thorsten Fögen

Walter de Gruyter · Berlin · New York

Contents

Thorsten Fögen Tears and Crying in Graeco-Roman Antiquity: An Introduction	1
Sabine Föllinger Tears and Crying in Archaic Greek Poetry (especially Homer)	17
Douglas L. Cairns Weeping and Veiling: Grief, Display and Concealment in Ancient Greek Culture	37
Ann Suter Tragic Tears and Gender	59
Roland Baumgarten Dangerous Tears? Platonic Provocations and Aristotelic Answers	85
Donald Lateiner Tears and Crying in Hellenic Historiography: Dacryology from Herodotus to Polybius	105
Darja Šterbenc Erker Women's Tears in Ancient Roman Ritual	135
Christina A. Clark Tears in Lucretius	161
Thorsten Fögen Tears in Propertius, Ovid and Greek Epistolographers	179
Loretana de Libero Precibus ac lacrimis : Tears in Roman Historiographers	209
Margaret Graver The Weeping Wise: Stoic and Epicurean Consolations in Seneca's 99th Epistle	235

Helmut Krasser
Statius and the Weeping Emperor (Silv. 2.5): Tears as a Means of Communication in the Amphitheatre	253
Donald Lateiner
Tears in Apuleius' Metamorphoses	277
Anthony Corbeill
Weeping Statues, Weeping Gods and Prodigies from Republican to Early-Christian Rome	297
David Konstan
Meleager's Sweet Tears: Observations on Weeping and Pleasure	311
Stefan Schorn
Tears of the Bereaved: Plutarch's Consolatio ad uxorem in Context	335
Ilaria Ramelli
Tears of Pathos, Repentance and Bliss: Crying and Salvation in Origen and Gregory of Nyssa	367
Charles F. Pazdernik
Fortune's Laughter and a Bureaucrat's Tears: Sorrow, Supplication and Sovereignty in Justinianic Constantinople	397
Arvid Kappas
Mysterious Tears: The Phenomenon of Crying from the Perspective of Social Neuroscience	419
Ad J. J. M. Vingerhoets, Lauren M. Bylsma & Jonathan Rottenberg
Crying: A Biopsychosocial Phenomenon	439
Index locorum	477