

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgements	x
Notes on Contributors	xi

Introduction

A European Memory? Małgorzata Pakier and Bo Stråth	1
--	---

Part I Europe, Memory, Politics and History: A Normative and Theoretical Framing

Section 1 Normative Perspectives and Lines of Division of European Memory Constructions

Chapter 1

On 'European Memory': Some Conceptual and Normative Remarks Jan-Werner Müller	25
--	----

Chapter 2

The Uses of History and the Third Wave of Europeanisation Klas-Göran Karlsson	38
---	----

Chapter 3

Halecki Revisited: Europe's Conflicting Cultures of Remembrance Stefan Troebst	56
--	----

Chapter 4
	Iconic Remembering and Religious Icons: Fundamentalist Strategies in European Memory Politics?
	Wolfgang Kaschuba	64
	Section 2 Towards a Fluid Conceptualisation of Memory Constructs
Chapter 5
	Culture, Politics, Palimpsest: Theses on Memory and Society
	Heidemarie Uhl	79
Chapter 6
	Damnatio Memoriae and the Power of Remembrance: Reflections on Memory and History
	Frederick Whitting	87
Chapter 7
	Seeing Dark and Writing Light: Photography Approaching Dark and Obscure Histories
	James Kaye	98
	Part II Remembering Europe's Dark Pasts: Four Fields of Commemoration
	Section 3 Remembering the Second World War
Chapter 8
	Remembering the Second World War in Western Europe, 1945–2005
	Stefan Berger	119
Chapter 9
	Practices and Politics of Second World War Remembrance: (Trans-)National Perspectives from Eastern and South-Eastern Europe
	Heike Karge	137
Chapter 10
	A Victory Celebrated: Danish and Norwegian Celebrations of the Liberation
	Clemens Maier	147

Section 4 Towards a Europeanisation of the Commemoration of the Holocaust

Chapter 11	Remembering Europe's Heart of Darkness: Legacies of the Holocaust in Post-war European Societies Cecilie Felicia Stokholm Banke	163
Chapter 12	Holocaust Remembrance and Restitution of Jewish Property in the Czech Republic and Poland after 1989 Stanisław Tyszka	175
Chapter 13	A Europeanisation of the Holocaust Memory? German and Polish Reception of the Film Europa, Europa Małgorzata Pakier	191
Chapter 14	Italian Commemoration of the Shoah: A Survivor-Oriented Narrative and Its Impact on Politics and Practices of Remembrance Ruth Nattermann	204
 Section 5 Coming to Terms with Europe's Communist Past
Chapter 15	Managing the History of the Past in the Former Communist States Arfon Rees	219
Chapter 16	Eurocommunism: Commemorating Communism in Contemporary Eastern Europe Péter Apor	233
Chapter 17	The Memory of the Dead Body Senadin Musabegović	247
Chapter 18	Neither Help nor Pardon? Communist Pasts in Western Europe Kevin Morgan	260

Section 6 Coming to Terms with Europe's Colonial Past

Chapter 19

Politics of Remembrance, Colonialism and the Algerian War
of Independence in France

Jan Jansen

275

Chapter 20

Memory Politics and the Use of History: Finnish-Speaking
Minorities at the North Calotte

Lars Elenius

294

Conclusion

Nightmares or Daydreams? A Postscript on the Europeanisation of Memories

Konrad H. Jarausch

309

References

321

Index

347