

Becoming East German

Socialist Structures and Sensibilities after Hitler

Edited by

MARY FULBROOK and ANDREW I. PORT

berghahn

NEW YORK • OXFORD

www.berghahnbooks.com

≈ CONTENTS ≈

Preface	vii
List of Abbreviations	viii
Introduction. The Banalities of East German Historiography Andrew I. Port	1
Part I. Memory and Identity after Nazism
Chapter 1. East Germans in a Post-Nazi State: Communities of Experience, Connection, and Identification Mary Fulbrook	33
Chapter 2. Divisive Unity: The Politics of Cultural Nationalism during the First German Writers' Congress of October 1947 Andreas Agocs	56
Chapter 3. Communicating History: The Archived Letters of Greta Kuckhoff and Memories of "The Red Orchestra" Joanne Sayner	79
Chapter 4. Remembered Change and Changes of Remembrance: East German Narratives of Anti-fascist Conversion Christiane Wienand	99
Part II. Health, Food, and Embodied Citizens
Chapter 5. Perceptions of Health after World War II: Heart Disease and Risk Factors in East and West Germany, 1945–75 Jeannette Madarász-Lebenhagen	121
Chapter 6. Socialism Fights the Proletarian Disease: East German Efforts to Overcome Tuberculosis in a Cold War Context Donna Harsch	141
Chapter 7. The Slim Imperative: Discourses and Cultures of Dieting in the German Democratic Republic, 1949–90 Neula Kerr-Boyle	158

Chapter 8. Luxury Dining in the Later Years of the German Democratic Republic Paul Freedman	179
Part III. Constraints and Conformity: Friends, Foes, and Disciplinary Practices
Chapter 9. Predispositions and the Paradox of Working-Class Behavior in Nazi Germany and the German Democratic Republic Andrew I. Port	201
Chapter 10. Israel as Friend and Foe: Shaping East German Society through Freund- and Feindbilder David G. Tompkins	219
Chapter 11. Humiliation as a Weapon within the Party: Fictional and Personal Accounts Phil Leask	237
Chapter 12. Playing the Game: Football and Everyday Life in the Honecker Era Alan McDougall	257
Conclusion. Structures and Subjectivities in GDR History Mary Fulbrook	277
Notes on Contributors	291
Index	294