

Entangled Protest

Transnational Approaches to the History of Dissent
in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union

Edited by Robert Brier

fibre

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface and Acknowledgements	7
I. THEORETICAL APPROACHES, GENERAL THEMES, METHODOLOGICAL CHALLENGES
Robert Brier
Entangled Protest: Dissent and the Transnational History of the 1970s and 1980s	11
Padraic Kenney
Electromagnetic Forces and Radio Waves or Does Transnational History Actually Happen?	43
II. MUTUAL CONTACTS, EAST-WEST INTERMEDIARIES, TRANSNATIONAL DISCOURSES
Tomáš Vilímek
Oppositionists in the ČSSR and the GDR: Mutual Awareness, Exchanges of Ideas and Cooperation, 1968-1989	55
Julia Metger
Writing the Papers: How Western Correspondents Reported the First Dissident Trials in Moscow, 1965-1972	87
Nenad Stefanov
‘Message in a Bottle’: Yugoslav Praxis Philosophy, Critical Theory of Society and the Transfer of Ideas between East and West	109

III. DISSSENT, DÉTENTE AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Wanda Jarzabek

- An Escalating Problem: The People's Republic of Poland and Human Rights in the CSCE Process, 1975-1983 129

Bent Boel

- Western European Social Democrats and Dissidence
in the Soviet Bloc during the Cold War 151

IV. THE TRANSNATIONAL POLITICS OF SOLIDARITY AND PEACE

Kim Christiaens / Idesbald Goddeeris

- The East versus the South: Belgian Solidarity Movements with Poland and Nicaragua
during the Early 1980s 173

Kacper Szulecki

- 'Freedom and Peace Are Indivisible':
On the Czechoslovak and Polish Dissident Input to the European Peace Movement, 1985-1989 199

Holger Nehring

- The Politics of Security Across the 'Iron Curtain':
Peace Movements in East and West Germany in the 1980s 229

- List of Abbreviations 249

- List of Contributors 255

- Index of Persons 257