

Contents

List of Contributors vii

Introduction 1

Cristina Rosillo-López

PART 1

Speech and Mechanisms of Political Communication

1 Defining Public Speech in the Roman Republic: Occasion, Audience and Purpose 17

Catherine Steel

2 Informal Conversations between Senators in the Late Roman Republic 34

Cristina Rosillo-López

PART 2

Political Communication at a Distance

3 Intermediaries in Political Communication: Adlegatio and its Uses 55

W. Jeffrey Tatum

4 Circulation of Information in Cicero's Correspondence of the Years 59–58 BC 81

Francisco Pina Polo

5 Governing by Dispatching Letters: The Hadrianic Chancellery 107

Juan Manuel Cortés-Copete

PART 3

Political Communication, a Bottom-up Approach

6 The Roman Plebs and Rumour: Social Interactions and Political Communication in the Early Principate 139

Cyril Courier

- 7 The Emperor is Dead! Rumours, Protests, and Political Opportunities in Late Antiquity 165
 Julio Cesar Magalhães de Oliveira

PART 4

Failure of Political Communication

- 8 Incitement to Violence in Late Republican Political Oratory 181
 Antonio Duplá Ansuategui
- 9 Why the Anti-Caesarians Failed: Political Communication on the Eve of Civil War (51 to 49 BC) 201
 Martin Jehne

PART 5

Representations of Political Communication

- 10 The Reception of Republican Political Communication: Tacitus' Choice of Exemplary Republican Orators in Context 231
 Henriette van der Blom
- 11 Retouching a Self-portrait (Or How to Adapt One's Image in Times of Political Change): The Case of Martial in the Light of Pliny the Younger 253
 Rosario Moreno Soldevila

Name Index 279

Subject Index 283