Inhaltsübersicht:

Nicolas Detering, Clementina Marsico, und Isabella Walser-Bürgler: Contesting Europe: Comparative Perspectives on Early Modern Discourses on Europe, 1400–1800 – an Introduction (1–10)

Part 1 Embodying Europe: Allegories of the Self and the Other

Nicolas Detering / Dennis Pulina: Rivalry of Lament: Early Personifications of Europe in Neo-Latin Panegyrics for Charles V and Francis I (13–38)
Michael Wintle: The Early Modern Iconography of Europe: Visual Images and European Identity (54–76)
Marion Romberg: Did Europe Exist in the Parish before 1800? The Allegory of Europe and Her Three Siblings in Folk Culture (77–103)
Ulrich Heinen Rubens’ Europe and the Pax Hispanica (104–145)

Part 2 Centralising Europe: Constructions of Peripheries and Boundaries

Katharina N. Piechocki: Cartographic Manipulations: Framing the Centre of Europe in ca. 1500 (149–173)
Peter Hanenberg: Portugal and the Early Modern Discourse on Europe (191–210)
Piotr Chmiel: How Did Venetian Diplomatic Envoys Define Europe, Its Divisions, Centres and Peripheries (ca. 1570–1645)? (211–227)
Lucie Storchová: Conceptualising Asia, Africa and Europa in a Polemic on the Origin of Bohemians (1615–1617): Supranational Geographical Units and a Humanist Competition for ‘National Honour’ (228–247)
Ovanes Akopyan: Europe or Not? Early Sixteenth-Century European Descriptions of Muscovy and the Russian Responses (248–271)

Part 3 Balancing Europe: Discourses of Plurality and Power

Niels Grüne / Stefan Ehrenpreis: Liberty and Participation: Governance Ideals in the Self-Fashioning of Sixteenth- to Early-Eighteenth-Century Europe (275–316)
Isabella Walser-Bürgler: Geopolitical Instruction and the Construction of Europe in Seventeenth-Century Neo-Latin Texts (317–346)

Volker Bauer: Europe as a Political System, an Ideal and a Selling Point: the Renger Series (1704–1718) (364–380)