

Contents

Acknowledgements VII

List of Figures VIII

Notes on Contributors XII

Introduction: Cartography between Christian Europe and the Arabic-Islamic World 1

Alfred Hiatt

1 The Transmission of Theoretical Geography: Maps of the Climata and the Reception of De causis Proprietatum Elementorum 40

Alfred Hiatt

2 Ptolemy's Geography in the Arabic-Islamic Context 74

Jean-Charles Ducène

3 The Transmission of Celestial Cartography from the Arabic-Islamic World to Europe: The Celestial Maps in MS Schoenberg Ijs 057 91

Elly Dekker

4 Geography at the Crossroads: The Nuzhat al-mushtāq fī ikhtirāq
al-āfāq of al-Idrisī 113

Alfred Hiatt

5 "Transitional" or "Transcultural" Maps? The Function and Impact of Arabic-Islamic Elements in Latin Christian Cartography of the Early Fourteenth Century 137

Stefan Schröder

6 Pluricultural Sources of the Catalan Atlas 160

Emmanuelle Vagnon

Conclusion: Divergent Traditions 189

Alfred Hiatt and Yossef Rapoport

Bibliography 197

Index 229